

PRIVACY POLICY

Collected Information

We only collect the information's that needed for the registration procedure at our website or when fill up the registration form on the site. The information that we gathered are voluntarily submitted by the customers to us. We collect customer's personal information during the account registration on our site.

Personal Identification Details

Your personal identification details are used to process your order of the products, customize your profile information, internal usage with legal requirements, update your status of online shopping in our site and also to update our customers with our latest news of updates/changes, promotions and events.

Confidentiality

Your personal information such as credit cards details, bank account numbers are well kept secret and confidential with us. We will never share any of your personal details to any third party. Our sites do apply appropriate security application in order to keep all the customers information safe at all time.

Changes to our Privacy Policy

www.itgtel.com have the rights to do any changes/updates Privacy Policy contents without giving prior notice to the customers. Do keep track on the Privacy Policy page on our website.

Security

our company website do applies appropriate security application in order to prevent the leaking customers' personal identification details from third parties, illegal disclosure and hackers. However, bear in mind that any information transmitted through Internet is NOT 100% guaranteed safe and secure.